Building Institutional Support for Undocumented & DACA Students In Michigan Project
Institutional Policy Review Project Rubric
The National Forum at The University of Michigan

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Least Accessible</th>
<th>Somewhat Accessible</th>
<th>Accessible</th>
<th>Most Accessible</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| Tuition/ Residency | - Explicitly or implicitly does not grant in-state tuition for undocumented students.
- No or very hard to find residency requirements for undocumented students (unclear under which status they fit).
- Confuses undocumented students’ residency with international students on the website.
- Residency requirements state that students are required to be Lawful Permanent Resident or US Citizen. | - Grants in-state tuition for undocumented students who meet residency requirements, but this is unclear, implicit, and/or stated in a very roundabout way. May be stated on international student page.
- Residency requirements do not state that it is required that students be Lawful Permanent Resident or US Citizen, but may state that students must be “residents” of an area.
- The term “resident” or “legal resident” is | - Grants in-state tuition for undocumented students who meet residency requirements.
- Residency policy as pertains to undocumented students is published online, but could be more explicit in stating that it applies to undocumented students.
- Point person contact information may be published on the website.
- If a separate form or procedure is required for undocumented students to receive in-state tuition, it may be readily available on the website. | - Grants in-state tuition for undocumented students who meet residency requirements.
- Residency policy as pertains to undocumented students is published online, is easy to access, and is explicit in stating that it applies to undocumented students.
- Point person contact information is published on the website.
- Has a web page specifically for undocumented student residency policy.
- If a separate form or procedure is required for undocumented students to receive in-state tuition, it is explicit and clear. | not explained or defined further, which can cause confusion for undocumented students who may believe it is related to lawful status.

- If a separate form or procedure is required for undocumented students to receive in-state tuition, it is unclear and/or implicit online.